TRADITIONAL music hall entertainment is being brought to Great Bowden next week as part of a big festival staged every four years.

Villagers are staging Old Time Music Hall in the village hall next Friday and Saturday as part of the 2008 Great Bowden Festival. Each time at the festival, villagers have got together to stage a party or show. Pat Oakley, musical director, said: "This will be an evening of entertainment and fun in the true tradition of music hall. "The cast are full of enthusiasm and raring to go. Although not compulsory, we are hoping our audience will enter in the spirit of things and dress up. There will be a prize for the best-dressed member of the audience on both nights."

Tickets cost £5 and are available from Welton's shop in the village. The curtain will go up at 7.30pm.

Quiz time

THE Harborough Mail question at the Union Inn quiz in Harborough on Sunday from 8.30pm is:
 What was the name of the British cyclist who once crashed out of the Tour de France after only 92 seconds?
 Last week's answer: The captive princess Aida was Ethiopian.

This week's HFWM teaser is: Where was Harborough's first railway station situated? To find out the answer listen to HFWM's Breakfast Show tomorrow between 7am and 10am.
